The goal of the UO Urban Farm is to teach students how to learn about nature through working. Urban Farm staff introduced our MSCC teaching staff to organic gardening practices that they could then share with children.

Before visiting the farm with the children, MSCC staff got to check it out on their own field trip!

This September, the preschool took a trip to the beautiful gardens at the Urban Farm on campus. Along with discovering all the different vegetables growing, they tasted raspberries and plums, saw the bee boxes (from a distance!), and checked out the compost system. It was a very fun and educational trip!
